

Daily Democrat

TERMS OF DAILY DEMOCRAT TO THE COUNTRY.

Against Coercion and Subjugation.

There are some events transpiring in our State of sufficient importance to awaken the attention and alarm of our citizens.

Let them remember that he who takes the sword will perish by the sword. THERE IS A DAY OF RECKONING NEAR AT HAND.

Take them in connection—the seizure of the road, the armed and disciplined troops at Muldrough's Mill; the application to our Governor to have the road seized by the State Guard; the trains seized in Tennessee.

Let them remember that he who takes the sword will perish by the sword. THERE IS A DAY OF RECKONING NEAR AT HAND.

Let them remember that he who takes the sword will perish by the sword. THERE IS A DAY OF RECKONING NEAR AT HAND.

Let them remember that he who takes the sword will perish by the sword. THERE IS A DAY OF RECKONING NEAR AT HAND.

From our Southern Exchanges.

THE SKIRMISH AT ROMNEY, VA.—The Dispatch gives the following account of the skirmish at Romney:

One of the most brilliant affairs during this war occurred on the 26th ult., near Romney, between a small detachment of Col. Turner's Cavalry and a party of 67 Federal Cavalry.

Another account in the Dispatch, but not as direct as the above, says that Ashby had two men killed and a number wounded. The Examiner says:

"Capt. Ashby, it seems, was on a scouting expedition with a detachment of fifteen men of the 11th Virginia Cavalry.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN ARMSTRONG.—The Norfolk papers of Saturday announce the death of Capt. Wm. Morris Armstrong, late of the U. S. Army.

THE VIRGINIA CONVENTION.—In the Virginia Convention on Saturday last an ordinance was adopted providing for the election of eighteen electors for President and Vice President of the United States.

AN ORDINANCE was presented setting forth that unless the Manassas Gap Railroad Company extend their road between Starbuck and Winchester.

THE REPORT of the committee on Harpers Ferry machinery was taken up, and the resolutions proposed by the committee transferring to the Southern Confederacy the machinery taken from that establishment were passed.

THE PRIVILEGED QUESTION.—The convention was then called up, and the following named members, mostly from the western section of the State, were expelled by nearly unanimous vote in every instance.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT OF NORFOLK.—The city government of Norfolk was organized last evening. James Cornick was elected President.

THE TELEGRAPHIC REPORT of the treatment of Vallandigham, is nothing to the credit of the troops at Washington.

THE CORRIER has several letters from Virginia. We are glad to see that his correspondent is going to see in Washington, and the recent news of the capture of so many prisoners of Gen. Johnston's division.

Col. Blanton Duncan, it was said, wished to run for Congress in this district, but he has done much better in running for Richmond.

At a meeting of the Tompkins' Zouaves, held at their armory, corner of Ninth and Main, on the evening of the 6th of July 1861, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this company are due and are hereby tendered to the young ladies of the Seventh ward for the very beautiful rosettes presented to the company on the 4th of July.

Resolved, That the grateful acknowledgments of this company are tendered to Major Dillard for the able and impartial manner in which he represented the interests of the company in the drill for the prize at the fair grounds on the 4th of July.

The Vermont Second Regiment has already obtained a reputation for gallantry. While the regiment was passing through Troy, a lady handed one of the soldiers a pike.

Telegraphic News.

THE OPPOSING ARMIES AT OLSE QUARTERS.

CONFLICTS INEVITABLE WITHIN A FEW HOURS.

MANASSAS, FAIRFAX AND MARTINSBURG THE POINTS OF ATTACK.

BEAUREGARD AT FAIRFAX.

THE MOBING OF VALLANDIGHAM BY OHIOANS.

More Rumors and Contradictions of Rumors.

New York, July 8.—When Mr. Vallandigham was on his visit to the Ohio camp, an effigy of him labeled "Vallandigham," was suspended from a tree, and simultaneously with this, stones, onions, &c., were hurled at him.

Information received to-day from Martinsburg says the Potomac lies off the river, and that the rebels have been seen to appear to mount guns on the fortifications, which are erected.

A report in the city, traced to a tolerably authentic source, says that Gen. Johnston attacked General Patterson at Martinsburg, which was repulsed with a loss of 1,000 men killed and prisoners.

The New York Twelfth and Fifth Regiments left by railroad this afternoon for Martinsburg en route for reinforcements.

According to Gen. Patterson's latest telegram and the report of Col. Lamon, who arrived to-night, having left Martinsburg on Saturday morning, Johnston's force consists of from 15,000 to 16,000 men.

The latest information received at headquarters says Beauregard personally commanded at Fairfax Court-house within fortified lines. His precise force is not known.

A bill reintroducing the Supreme Court will be introduced into the House, and will probably be referred to a select committee with orders to report to the next session.

At a Democratic caucus last night, where Mr. Lincoln was formally canvassed, Mr. Vallandigham intimated he preferred the preservation of the Union.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Tribune makes the following announcement: "To-morrow is the day agreed upon by the President, and his advisers, including Gen. Scott, for a grand combined movement on Manassas Junction by flank and center columns."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The best evidence that the rebels in Manassas do not intend attacking our camp, under Gen. McDowell, is that they have leveled the forest to the ground for miles, encumbering every route between Fairfax Court-house and Manassas with heavy fallen trees.

A letter received from Fernandina, Fla., by a gentleman recently employed by the railroad company between that point and Cedar Key, states that the rebels were concentrating there, and that heavy batteries had already been erected.

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Telegraphic News.

THE OPPOSING ARMIES AT OLSE QUARTERS.

CONFLICTS INEVITABLE WITHIN A FEW HOURS.

MANASSAS, FAIRFAX AND MARTINSBURG THE POINTS OF ATTACK.

BEAUREGARD AT FAIRFAX.

THE MOBING OF VALLANDIGHAM BY OHIOANS.

More Rumors and Contradictions of Rumors.

New York, July 8.—When Mr. Vallandigham was on his visit to the Ohio camp, an effigy of him labeled "Vallandigham," was suspended from a tree, and simultaneously with this, stones, onions, &c., were hurled at him.

Information received to-day from Martinsburg says the Potomac lies off the river, and that the rebels have been seen to appear to mount guns on the fortifications, which are erected.

A report in the city, traced to a tolerably authentic source, says that Gen. Johnston attacked General Patterson at Martinsburg, which was repulsed with a loss of 1,000 men killed and prisoners.

The New York Twelfth and Fifth Regiments left by railroad this afternoon for Martinsburg en route for reinforcements.

According to Gen. Patterson's latest telegram and the report of Col. Lamon, who arrived to-night, having left Martinsburg on Saturday morning, Johnston's force consists of from 15,000 to 16,000 men.

The latest information received at headquarters says Beauregard personally commanded at Fairfax Court-house within fortified lines. His precise force is not known.

A bill reintroducing the Supreme Court will be introduced into the House, and will probably be referred to a select committee with orders to report to the next session.

At a Democratic caucus last night, where Mr. Lincoln was formally canvassed, Mr. Vallandigham intimated he preferred the preservation of the Union.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Tribune makes the following announcement: "To-morrow is the day agreed upon by the President, and his advisers, including Gen. Scott, for a grand combined movement on Manassas Junction by flank and center columns."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The best evidence that the rebels in Manassas do not intend attacking our camp, under Gen. McDowell, is that they have leveled the forest to the ground for miles, encumbering every route between Fairfax Court-house and Manassas with heavy fallen trees.

A letter received from Fernandina, Fla., by a gentleman recently employed by the railroad company between that point and Cedar Key, states that the rebels were concentrating there, and that heavy batteries had already been erected.

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Telegraphic News.

THE OPPOSING ARMIES AT OLSE QUARTERS.

CONFLICTS INEVITABLE WITHIN A FEW HOURS.

MANASSAS, FAIRFAX AND MARTINSBURG THE POINTS OF ATTACK.

BEAUREGARD AT FAIRFAX.

THE MOBING OF VALLANDIGHAM BY OHIOANS.

More Rumors and Contradictions of Rumors.

New York, July 8.—When Mr. Vallandigham was on his visit to the Ohio camp, an effigy of him labeled "Vallandigham," was suspended from a tree, and simultaneously with this, stones, onions, &c., were hurled at him.

Information received to-day from Martinsburg says the Potomac lies off the river, and that the rebels have been seen to appear to mount guns on the fortifications, which are erected.

A report in the city, traced to a tolerably authentic source, says that Gen. Johnston attacked General Patterson at Martinsburg, which was repulsed with a loss of 1,000 men killed and prisoners.

The New York Twelfth and Fifth Regiments left by railroad this afternoon for Martinsburg en route for reinforcements.

According to Gen. Patterson's latest telegram and the report of Col. Lamon, who arrived to-night, having left Martinsburg on Saturday morning, Johnston's force consists of from 15,000 to 16,000 men.

The latest information received at headquarters says Beauregard personally commanded at Fairfax Court-house within fortified lines. His precise force is not known.

A bill reintroducing the Supreme Court will be introduced into the House, and will probably be referred to a select committee with orders to report to the next session.

At a Democratic caucus last night, where Mr. Lincoln was formally canvassed, Mr. Vallandigham intimated he preferred the preservation of the Union.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Tribune makes the following announcement: "To-morrow is the day agreed upon by the President, and his advisers, including Gen. Scott, for a grand combined movement on Manassas Junction by flank and center columns."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The best evidence that the rebels in Manassas do not intend attacking our camp, under Gen. McDowell, is that they have leveled the forest to the ground for miles, encumbering every route between Fairfax Court-house and Manassas with heavy fallen trees.

A letter received from Fernandina, Fla., by a gentleman recently employed by the railroad company between that point and Cedar Key, states that the rebels were concentrating there, and that heavy batteries had already been erected.

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Telegraphic News.

THE OPPOSING ARMIES AT OLSE QUARTERS.

CONFLICTS INEVITABLE WITHIN A FEW HOURS.

MANASSAS, FAIRFAX AND MARTINSBURG THE POINTS OF ATTACK.

BEAUREGARD AT FAIRFAX.

THE MOBING OF VALLANDIGHAM BY OHIOANS.

More Rumors and Contradictions of Rumors.

New York, July 8.—When Mr. Vallandigham was on his visit to the Ohio camp, an effigy of him labeled "Vallandigham," was suspended from a tree, and simultaneously with this, stones, onions, &c., were hurled at him.

Information received to-day from Martinsburg says the Potomac lies off the river, and that the rebels have been seen to appear to mount guns on the fortifications, which are erected.

A report in the city, traced to a tolerably authentic source, says that Gen. Johnston attacked General Patterson at Martinsburg, which was repulsed with a loss of 1,000 men killed and prisoners.

The New York Twelfth and Fifth Regiments left by railroad this afternoon for Martinsburg en route for reinforcements.

According to Gen. Patterson's latest telegram and the report of Col. Lamon, who arrived to-night, having left Martinsburg on Saturday morning, Johnston's force consists of from 15,000 to 16,000 men.

The latest information received at headquarters says Beauregard personally commanded at Fairfax Court-house within fortified lines. His precise force is not known.

A bill reintroducing the Supreme Court will be introduced into the House, and will probably be referred to a select committee with orders to report to the next session.

At a Democratic caucus last night, where Mr. Lincoln was formally canvassed, Mr. Vallandigham intimated he preferred the preservation of the Union.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Tribune makes the following announcement: "To-morrow is the day agreed upon by the President, and his advisers, including Gen. Scott, for a grand combined movement on Manassas Junction by flank and center columns."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The best evidence that the rebels in Manassas do not intend attacking our camp, under Gen. McDowell, is that they have leveled the forest to the ground for miles, encumbering every route between Fairfax Court-house and Manassas with heavy fallen trees.

A letter received from Fernandina, Fla., by a gentleman recently employed by the railroad company between that point and Cedar Key, states that the rebels were concentrating there, and that heavy batteries had already been erected.

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Telegraphic News.

THE OPPOSING ARMIES AT OLSE QUARTERS.

CONFLICTS INEVITABLE WITHIN A FEW HOURS.

MANASSAS, FAIRFAX AND MARTINSBURG THE POINTS OF ATTACK.

BEAUREGARD AT FAIRFAX.

THE MOBING OF VALLANDIGHAM BY OHIOANS.

More Rumors and Contradictions of Rumors.

New York, July 8.—When Mr. Vallandigham was on his visit to the Ohio camp, an effigy of him labeled "Vallandigham," was suspended from a tree, and simultaneously with this, stones, onions, &c., were hurled at him.

Information received to-day from Martinsburg says the Potomac lies off the river, and that the rebels have been seen to appear to mount guns on the fortifications, which are erected.

A report in the city, traced to a tolerably authentic source, says that Gen. Johnston attacked General Patterson at Martinsburg, which was repulsed with a loss of 1,000 men killed and prisoners.

The New York Twelfth and Fifth Regiments left by railroad this afternoon for Martinsburg en route for reinforcements.

According to Gen. Patterson's latest telegram and the report of Col. Lamon, who arrived to-night, having left Martinsburg on Saturday morning, Johnston's force consists of from 15,000 to 16,000 men.

The latest information received at headquarters says Beauregard personally commanded at Fairfax Court-house within fortified lines. His precise force is not known.

A bill reintroducing the Supreme Court will be introduced into the House, and will probably be referred to a select committee with orders to report to the next session.

At a Democratic caucus last night, where Mr. Lincoln was formally canvassed, Mr. Vallandigham intimated he preferred the preservation of the Union.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Tribune makes the following announcement: "To-morrow is the day agreed upon by the President, and his advisers, including Gen. Scott, for a grand combined movement on Manassas Junction by flank and center columns."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The best evidence that the rebels in Manassas do not intend attacking our camp, under Gen. McDowell, is that they have leveled the forest to the ground for miles, encumbering every route between Fairfax Court-house and Manassas with heavy fallen trees.

A letter received from Fernandina, Fla., by a gentleman recently employed by the railroad company between that point and Cedar Key, states that the rebels were concentrating there, and that heavy batteries had already been erected.

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

Fortress Monroe, July 7.—A young man came in to-day as a deserter from the rebel army. He was impressed into the Confederate service some time since. He represents their case as desperate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—One of the bills submitted by Secretary Chase with his report on the finances, contains features similar to those in the bill reported during the second session of the late Congress by Mr. Bingham, of Ohio, commonly known as the "bill to place in the hands of the President the military and naval power to collect revenue in cases where there are any unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States."

MEDICAL
BLOOD PILLS AND PURI

BOTANY. CHEMISTRY. EXPERIENCE. PHARMACY.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Balm

THE EVIDENCE IN THE POSSESSION OF this, which is at all times accessible to the established the following facts:
That the Blood Purifier and Blood Pills are new.

[illegible]

No one can doubt their superiority after trial. They are not only better, but, in fact, than any other Pills, for it takes a less number to secure a better result.

Price of the "Standard Vegetable Blood Pills," 25 cents per bottle, or 50 cents per dozen. Of the "Standard Vegetable Blood Pills," 25 cents per box, or 2 dollars.

Send Dr. Enoch's Special Notice and Certificate to www.dr-e-n-o-c-h.com

[illegible]

SANFORD'S
LIVER INVIGORANT
NEVER DEHILITATES.
IT IS COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GENUINE
LIVER HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED AS A GROWN AND APPROVED BY THE
NEW SCIENCE. IT IS THE ONLY
AGENT FOR WHICH IT RECEIVES
IT HAS CURED THOUSANDS OF THE LIVER IN ALL
COUNTRIES.
WITHIN THE LAST
YEAR, A HUNDRED
THOUSAND
OF THE LIVER
IN ALL
COUNTRIES.
WITHIN THE LAST YEAR, A HUNDRED
THOUSAND

The dose must be adapted to the individual taking it; let us act to get gently on the toes.

Use the dictates of your common sense. LIVER COMPLAINTS, DISPEPSIA, SUMMER COMPLAINTS, SOUR STOMACH, HAZARD, CHOLELA, INFANTILE DICK, FEMALE WEAKNESS, succeed successfully as an adjunct to the treatment of the above conditions.

EDO EN at commencement o
ALL WHO USE IT ARE GIVING their
in its favor.

MIX WATER IN THE MOUTH WITH VIGORATOR, AND SWALLOW WITH TOOTH
Price One Dollar per Bottle.

—ALSO—

SANFORD'S

BLOOD PURIFYING PILLS
COMPOUNDED FROM
Pure Vegetable Extracts, and put up in GLASS
AIR TIGHT, and will keep in any climate.

THE FAMILY CATHARTIC PILL

but active Cathartics, which the people used in his practice more than twenty years
The constant increase in demand for who have used the PILLS and the (don which all express the regard to their induced to place them within the reach Induced protection well known but dis-thoroughly on different counts of the discrepancy to the world condemned them a vast Extracts, which are mentary canal, and are where a Catholic ANGEMENTS OF THE

NESS, PAINS IN THE

WHOLE BODY, from feet, in neck and in the head, in the Children or Adults, know hair, too numerous to ment. Does it to

Price, Three Times.
The Liver Injurer and Family Chastiser is called by doctors generally, and sold the Trade all over the world.

S. T. W. SANFORD, M. D.,
Manufacturer and Promoter,
209 Broadway, New York, corner of Palace
Sole in Louisiana by Wilson, Peter &

Prof. Wood
RESTORATIVE CORN
-AND-
Blood Benova

Is precisely what its name indicates, for, pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exalting, and strengthening to the vital powers, and a revivifier, exalter, and restorer of blood in all its purity, it is a tonic, and renders the system invulnerable to all disease. It is the only preparation offered to the world in a popular form so as to merit the result of all. So chemically and fully combined as to be the most powerful, and yet so perfectly adapted as to be in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, hence it is so perfectly adapted to aid up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exalting in its effects, and yet it is never thoroughly combining powerful tonic soothing properties, and consequently caner injury. Such a remedy has long been the desideratum of the medical world, but the thoroughly skilled in medical science, by all who have suffered from debility. It needs no medical skill or knowledge to see that debility is the cause of disease, and that the unlearned system open to the attacks of many of the most dangerous to poor humanity is constantly liable. Such examples, as the following Consumption, Rheumatism, Indigestion, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Nervous Irritability, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Catarrhs, Night Sweats, Languor, Thinness of the chest, and other ailments, are all found to in time, call for Fernale Woods'

of Torpidity, and Lateral Complaints, there is the Kidneys, Scallor or Incontinence of the urine, or any other of the symptoms of the many Organs. Pain in the Back, Side, and between the Shoulders, predisposition to Scurvy, Chills, Humors and Continued Cough, &c. &c.
Ordinarily the Urinary Organs are the first to be affected, and the Urine is found to be cloudy, humescent many more times, but we space only to say, it will not only cure the ability following Chills and Fever, but prevent the attacks arising from the Urinary Organs and ere the disease at once, if already established. And as it acts directly and powerfully upon the primary system, assuming the action, promulging the fact, also the secret secretions of the system, it is easily seen how it prevents any deleterious consequences following upon change of climate and water, &c.

the hands of all persons of sedentary habits, students, ministers, literary men. And it does not accept of any kind of fast-day except the ordinary fast of the body. If they will, they should always use it. If they will, they find an agreeable, pleasant, and efficient remedy against those ills which rob them of beauty; for beauty cannot exist without health. Health cannot exist without regularity in the use of this medicine. In its qualities continue. Then, again, the Cordia perfect Mother's Relief. Taken a month or two before the final trial she will pass the dread period with perfect ease. It is the only medicine which will do this. (Verdict in all our cases. Mothers, try it! And to you we appeal to detect this medicine's decline not only of rather than let their condition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business that if it were known they were in a state of decline on a downward path, until too late to arrest it at all. But the mother is always vigilant and to you we confidently appeal for we know your never-failing adhesion will carry the point you to Prof. Wood's Restorative and Blood Renovator as the remedy which should be always on hand in time of need. At WOOD, BROS. & CO., 114 Market Street, St. Louis, and sold by all good Druggists. Price One Dollar per Bottle.